

Guaranteeing Quality for Audit Success

Compliance with the complex regulations and high expectations of clinical research seems more and more difficult to guarantee without huge investments in time and resources. Our speakers today will highlight these challenges and pinpoint real-life solutions from their experience of GCP Auditing and FDA Inspections.

As these talks will show, becoming and remaining compliant need not be as difficult as you imagine. Efficient training of staff and good preparation can be the first step to guarantee a continuous quality and successful audits and inspections.
